

BRITISH TROOPS MAKE NEW GAIN IN IRELAND

Belmont, June 4 (City International News Service)—The British victory over the Irish Republicans was extended today when the Republicans retreated from a number of strategic points along the Ulster-Free State frontier.

The British are not pursuing the Republicans beyond the boundary. There has been desultory firing at some points.

Patients in a hospital were thrown into panic early today when a fight broke out near the institution and bullets crashed through the windows.

Nurses were forced to lift the patients from their beds and place them upon the floor to avoid injury. Some of the patients became hysterical.

A large warehouse on the Belfast waterfront was destroyed by incendiary bombs.

Further fighting in the fighting at Pettigo have been disclosed, showing that the dead and wounded greatly exceed the figures contained in the official communiques of Monday.

The best military brains in the world are directing the movements of the British troops in Ulster. The general plan was drafted by Lord Ciano, chief of the Italian general staff, and is being carried into effect by Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson.

The police this afternoon announced important arrests in the Sinn Féin case. A number of men and women were seized and all searched houses were found concealed in their clothing.

Anglo-Irish Parley Off Until Tomorrow

By DAVID M. CHURCH. International News Service Staff Correspondent.

London, June 4.—The Anglo-Irish conference over the Irish constitution, which was to have been resumed today, was postponed until tomorrow, owing to the absence of Premier Lloyd George and Arthur Griffith, President of the Dail Eireann.

Griffith is expected to arrive from Dublin tomorrow morning with the revised draft of the Irish constitution. The changes have been made to meet the British objection to the original document.

Premier Lloyd George will return from Creich, Wales, on Thursday. He will be represented in tomorrow's meeting by his Secretary Winston Churchill.

Downing street officials are taking a more hopeful view of the Irish situation than they did when the conference was broken off last week. It is believed that a decisive way or another will have been reached by Saturday evening.

NINE MILLION DOLLAR

The expenses of the Hearst publications in 1921 increased as much as $9,009,049.37 over 1920.

This represented higher prices for white paper, higher wages and marked improvements in all publications.

Last year the combined profits of all the Hearst publications ran to little less than 7%.

But, in every year, it is an unalterable policy to turn back at least 90% of the entire gross income into the improvement of existing publications.

The figures given above do not include those of the English edition of Good Housekeeping (just started)

RS INCREASED EXPENSE

Year after year of intensive reinvestment means an ever-increasing improvement—a higher grade and more valuable product for the 15,000,000 readers of Hearst publications.

That this policy is appreciated, that dominant superiority is the one quality most desired by readers, is amply demonstrated by the constantly increasing numbers that buy the Hearst publications entirely regardless of their higher price.

PARTY TROUBLES PUT JAP PREMIER OUT
Tokio, June 4 (By the Associated Press).—The resignation of Premier Takahashi's Cabinet, though it came suddenly today, was not the result of any sudden change in affairs, it developed. The Cabinet, at a meeting last night, decided on the spot, it was announced. Students of Japanese politics, professed to see a confusion in the public mind of Takahashi, the Premier, with Takahashi in his other capacity of leader of the Seiyukai, now the majority party in the Diet. Disapproval caused by the action of the party, it was intimated, had been vented on the head of the leader in his other capacity as Prime Minister.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON BOSTON SOCIETY

Miss Curtis to Open New Home at Hamilton in July

By BETTY ALDEN

MEMBERS of the smart coterie along the North Shore would hardly consider any sporting event complete without Miss Mary Curtis.

Though she devotes not a little of her time to tennis and golf, this ardent sportswoman is especially fond of riding, an art skill at handling even the most highly strung mounts has been revealed at numerous horse shows held about Boston. And it is seldom indeed that she fails to be recorded as "among those present" at the many events held at the Myopia Hunt.

Some time ago Miss Curtis purchased the Safford place at Hamilton, which is to be ready for occupancy about the middle of the Summer. The house, which has been moved back 300 feet from the street, is being extensively remodelled. The past few years Miss Curtis has been spending the Summers just across the road from the Safford estate in the "Old Brown House" as it is called. Her Winter home is on Marlboro street.

The sport-loving clan along the Shore is one which entertains freely and frequently, and it is expected that a host of interesting entertainments will take place at Miss Curtis' new home.

A PROPOS of the Myopia Hunt Club, a particularly good polo season is promised these Summer and Fall. Practice, which started on May 10, will be held every Wednesday and Saturday afternoon. When the season at the Shore is well under way, crowds of fashionable folk make their way to the club to watch the games there.

The captain of the team is Ernest H. Penteo, whose estate at Topfield is known as "Barrack Tur". Among the men who have proved their prowess at the game are Neil Rice, Frederick Ayer, Albert Burrage, Jr., Russell Burrage, Thomas P. Mandell, Quincy Shaw, 2d, as well as "Tom Rice," whose marriage tomorrow afternoon to Miss Elizabeth Lyman will attract a very smart throng. To Emmanuel Church, where the ceremony will be solemnized at 2 o'clock.

THERE is no way of defeating the fact that "all good things must come to an end," and so the debbies of 1921-22 are gracefully making way for the girls listed for the coming season.

A girl's coming out year is supposed to be one of the very happiest of her life, and it is no wonder that those who stepped on the social stage last Fall and Winter, to make their bow to society, are leaving this stage with reluctant steps and not a few wistful, backward glances.

And all the time the coterie of 1922-23 is standing, breathless and eager-eyed, in "the wings," all ready to "go on" when the signal comes. As many of these debutantes are planning to enter college in the Fall, a number of presentations will take place this Summer.

One of the very first debutantes of the 1922-23 crop is Miss Marcia Hopkins, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Gage Hopkins, are introducing her at a dance to be given next Saturday afternoon at their residence in Chestnut Hill known as "Gladwood." Miss Hopkins, who will enter Vassar next Fall, is a graduate of the Winsor School, which so many debutantes of the coming season attended.

THERE was a jolly gathering of young folk from Boston and New York whom Louis B. McCagg, Jr., had as guests over the weekend at the beautiful Newpage estate of his parents on Gibbs avenue.

First and foremost in the group of guests was, of course, his bride-to-be, Miss Katherine Winslow, daughter of the George Scott Winslow of Chestnut street. The Misses Marion Fenn and Nell White, also of Boston, were there, as well as the Messrs. R. C. V. Mann, W. O. McCagg and Edward K. McCagg.

The marriage of the young Harvard senior and Miss Winslow will take place on June 27 at St. Paul's Cathedral in Boston, just a few days after the prospective bridegroom receives his sheepskin.

NEW RAILROAD WAGE CUT IS ORDERED

Chicago, June 6 (By the Associated Press).—Over the strong protest of the three labor representatives on the United States Railway Labor Board, a new wage cut of seven cents an hour for railway shop mechanics and nine cents for freight carmen, cutting 40,000 shopmen approximately $60,000,000 a year was ordered by the board today.

The new wage reduction brought an estimated added saving of $35,452,447 annually to the railroad, for long on the heels of a $50,000,000 cut in the wages of maintenance of way laborers last week. The shop crafts decision becomes effective July 1, the same date as last week's order.

OVERLOOK HUMAN NEEDS

The minority report of the labor members pointedly stated that the majority decision was made "with no consideration of human need" and charged that it fails to carry out the function of the board to set a "just and reasonable" wage.

The tendency of this decision is to vindicate the propaganda of the railroads and consequently condemn such statements as the public have been able to bring to public attention," the minority opinion said. It was signed by Albert O. Wharton, W. L. McMeekin, and Albert Phillips, the labor representatives.

Superior force of the railway shopmen were not decreased. After due consideration, the decision said, it was felt that the duties and responsibilities of such forces warranted maintenance of the present rates.

The reduction for the mechanics averaged a little more than 3 per cent., all machinists, boiler-makers, blacksmiths, sheet metal workers, electrical workers, carmen (except freight carmen), moulders, cupola tenders and coppersmiths and the regular and helper apprentices receiving a cut of 1 cent an hour.

Freight carmen, commonly known as "car knockers," and the object of some of the heaviest assaults by the roads in their battle for lower wages, were cut 5 cents.

"CAR KNOCKERS" HIT The largest cut was ordered for the "car knockers" because the board said it believed their work did not require the same skilled service as other branches of carmen's work.

This heavier reduction for its freight carmen came under especially severe criticism by the minority report, the labor members declaring there was no justification for discrimination in our wages.

Rail Wage Cut May Make Work for More Men

The belief was expressed in labor circles today that the rail wage reductions, although providing for an estimated drop of $60,000,000 in the aggregate payrolls of the railroads, will in reality result in increased payroll disbursements.

This is expected to be accomplished through reinstatement of men laid off and the execution of deferred work by the roads.

An average of $2.18 a day, were cut 1 cent an hour, or 40 cents a day. The mechanics, whose daily rate now averages from $5.11 for electrical workers to $6.28 for blacksmiths, will lose 56 cents a day under the new decision, bringing their daily wage to approximately $5.73.

The board's latest decision, which is to be followed shortly by reductions of railway clerks, telegraphers and all other classes of railway employees except the train service men, was brief and offered no explanation of how the new rates were arrived at.

DECLARES HER HUSBAND IS ALREADY WED

Mrs. Edythe Cederquist of Boston, through her mother, Mrs. Johanna Fraser, also of Boston, in East Cambridge Court today, filed suit for the annulment of her marriage on April 9, 1921, in Chelsea, to John W. Cederquist of Malden.

She says she lived with him until September 9, 1921, when she alleges that she learned that he had another wife, still living and undivorced. This wife, says the petition, is Mrs. Marie A. Oakland Cederquist.

She then left her husband, she says, and has not lived with him since.

LINDENFIELD, HELD FOR WALL ST. PLOT, GETS BAIL

Warren, June 4.—Wolf Lindenfield, who was arrested here last Autumn on suspicion that he was implicated in the Wall Street explosion, will shortly be released on bail, the police announced today. They admitted their investigation in co-operation with American detectives failed to connect Lindenfield with the Wall Street conspiracy. It was decided to prosecute him on the charge of issuing fraudulent checks.

Sterling Silver 8-inch Candlestick, $10.00 for the PAIR

It seems almost incredible that a pair of solid silver candlesticks can be produced for this price.

These were made special to our order. They can be found in no other store.

The severe design reminds one of Colonial days, for weight of silver and strength of manufacture, we offer these as

RADIO UNITES POLICE HEADS TO MEET

The means of reaching simultaneously thousands of persons scattered all over the North and South of the country is one of the marvelous accomplishments of radio.

Amateur transmitting stations in various sections of the country are selected by the American Radio Relay League to broadcast messages which may be designed for many hundreds of people. These messages are picked up by countless amateurs who relay them to the proper persons.

The remarkable radio relay machine was adopted to broadcast an invitation to all police chiefs throughout the country to attend the convention of police chiefs at San Francisco on June 18.

The Boston College transmitting station was chosen by the league to transmit the message to all New England. This is one of the most powerful amateur stations in the district, and has been heard in Des Moines, Iowa, and Chicago.

The transmitting at this station is in charge of Father Lynch, assisted by Roy J. Connolly, '24, and Charles E. Duffy, '24. The transmitting set was a gift to the college from Cardinal O'Connell, who is very much interested in radio.

MANY HURT IN PARADE TO PORTUGUESE FLIERS

Parade, Brazil, June 5.—The Portuguese naval aviators, Capitães Secundus and Coutinho, whose arrival yesterday from the island of Fernando Noronha completed their trans-Atlantic flight from Lisbon, plan to hop off for Rio Janeiro tomorrow. Their arrival here was the cause of a great popular demonstration. A parade was formed, the flyers drawn through the streets in a carriage from which the horses had been unhitched. Many persons were injured in the crush.

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

By FRIEDA DAVIS

THIS orchestra should play "The Star Spangled Banner" throughout the week at Loew's State Theatre, for "The Men From Home," heading the bill there, is a howling bit of American propaganda. The eagle reigns supreme.

As in most plays in which a beautiful American heroine goes to Monte Carlo, there is a group of scheming foreigners working to the ultimate end of getting her millions with the least possible publicity. Despite the movie I am inclined to believe that there must be some dukes and princes of Italy who are poor, but honest. In this story, too, the upright man from Kokoma, with his "right smart" and "way doc," and his high regard for the product of the Henry Ford factories shows up the schemers and wins the girl.

FAVORITE SCENERY. Famous Flaxey-Lasky, who produced the film, seem determined to give us travel pictures. If the characters of the story were entirely eliminated, the picture might still be thoroughly enjoyed because of the gorgeous settings and exteriors. It was actually filmed on the Italian Riviera.

The cast has been, for the most part, well chosen. James Kirkwood is good as the man from home who persists in making clear the fact that he is a good American. He wants his Ford and his ham and eggs and will accept no substitutes. Anna Q. Nilsson is good as the rich heiress, a limited role. She looked the part, which was all she could do.

Norman Kerry does well as the Prince Kianillo, while Joan Ruben is good in the small role of a fisherman. Annette Benson gives as a good piece of work as his wife. The rest of the cast was indifferent. It didn't matter much whether or they were there or not, the view was always exquisite.

TOM MOORE HAS A JOB. TOM MOORE did so well with Betty Compson in "Over the Border," her next starring production, that he has been snapped up for the lead with Mary Miles Minter in "The Cowboy and the Lady," being, supposedly, the cowboy in the case.

There has been speculation regarding how Miss Minter would fare since she has been allowed to "grow up." For years she remained sixteen, and played little girl roles until the public began to rebel. Now she is seen in the ordinary "kicks" and, it is whispered in film circles, not proving as much of an asset to the producing company as was hoped.

THE PAST WILL OUT. ROBERT McKIM may think himself safely ennobled in the personality of a movie villain of the first water, but his innocent past crops up to confront him and prove that he has not always been thus.

While he was working in Hollywood on "Monte Christo," he found his costume with a long rip. He promptly hid himself to the wardrobe department to have it repaired.

"I'll have to do it by hand," the woman in charge said, "the sewing machine is broken."

"What kind is it?" McKim asked. She told him and he pulled off his coat and dug into the works. In five minutes it was in running order. "Here's another," he was told. "That, too, was fixed."

"How does it happen you know so much about them?" they asked. Then came the "awful truth": "I was a sewing machine salesman," he confessed.

ART TO THE NTH POWER. ONE of the great features of the movies when they first came into popularity was the fact that the action could take place on a real lawn when a lawn was asked for in the script. The same with Niagara Falls, the Yosemite and the Grand Canyon.

And now the screen has gone nature one better. In the coming Cosmopolitan production starring Marion Davies, "When Knighthood Was in Flower," the entire picture was made in the studio, exteriors and interiors. There are a number of lovely garden scenes with sunlight and shadows deftly blowing Summer breezes—no artificial and all convincing.

This reminds me that the John Barrymore success, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," filmed by Famous Players-Lasky about two years ago, was made entirely in the studio. There was a number of street scenes used.

SECTION upon section of black taffeta shirred into narrow cording makes a naive Callot dress and cape costume.

The bodice is shirred and corded up and down, the cape and skirt round about, and the collar of the cape is a line of taffeta loops, buttoned to the cape with jet, through which a scarf tie with jet is run.

Paris permits a breach between sleeve and glove in frequent modish instances.

An attractive tailored frock of gray wool is trimmed with narrow cording and a looped arrangement of matching gray braid. The sailor collar introduces the V neckline that is smart for daytime wear just now, as well as for evening.

Question Box for Radio Fans

Send in your radio difficulties. Address: Radio Editor, Boston American, No. 80 Summer street, Boston, Mass.

C. F. H. Lyman—The fact that you can get telegraph shows that your set is properly connected. The reason you cannot get WJZ may be a poor crystal or inability to tune to the meters. Try another crystal or two. If you will send a self-addressed envelope and repeat your request I will send a diagram for you.

W. M. J. Norwood—No. 14 copper wire may now be used as a ground from the lightning protector for a receiving set. Wave-lengths of crystals are best computed with a wave-meter. It is impossible to say whether you could get Medford on a crystal set, and especially dubious in Summer. The diagrams you enclose are correct. For an amateur's license you must be able to send and receive code.

H. G. Boston—The lightning ground used by the telephone company should not be used for a radiator receiving set.

J. R. D. Dorchester Centre—A single wire from ceiling to 160 feet four has been proved to be about the best aerial for a simple receiving set. Such an aerial would be better than the three wire 25-foot aerial which you have. If you do use more than one wire, connect them in multiple as you have in No. 3.

VALENTINO AND BRIDE TO LIVE APART 1 YEAR

Los Angeles, June 5.—Freed of the charge of bigamy, brought against him as a result of his marriage in Mexico, Valentino, to Winona Hudson before his decree of divorce from Jean Acker became final, Rodolph Valentino, the "Great Lover of the screen," will live apart from his bride for approximately a year.

The charges against Valentino were dismissed by Justice Walter Harty on the ground that the evidence produced during the preliminary hearing in the case was insufficient, and did not warrant him in holding Valentino for trial in the Superior Court.

Valentino will live apart from his bride until his decree of divorce from Jean Acker becomes final. Then they will be married again.

Deputy Attorney Wagline announced that Justice Harty's action in dismissing the charge against Valentino had not lessened the possibility of the issuance of a complaint charging bigamy against Frank Mayo, film star, who married Dagmar Godowsky. Mayo is alleged to have gone through the ceremony before his divorce decree became final.

In a statement issued after his victory, Valentino said: "Through ignorance of the law I married Miss Hudson, not dreaming that I was breaking or violating any California statute. I would not under any condition assume marital relationship with my present Mrs. Valentino until the time fixed by the law shall have expired, upon which we will be married again, here in Los Angeles."

Transforming the home at small cost

The addition of a single piece of furniture to a room often works wonders in comfort and improved appearance. A new dining table, buffet, or set of chairs, for instance, makes a different place of the dining room. And the outlay need not be great. For example:

The 54-inch mahogany buffet shown above is $95; the oval gate-leg table, also in mahogany, $55; the mahogany finish chair, $9. All are of Paine quality—substantial in workmanship, built for years of dependable service, certain to give satisfaction.

Without doubt one of the most interesting places in Boston is the second floor at Paine's, where is shown a remarkable collection of floor coverings, for every purpose, as well as lamps and gift suggestions.

WOMAN OF 60 SUES AS 'WIFE FOR 30 YEARS'

Miss Emma McHugh, sixty years old, has brought suit in the Suffolk superior court against Thomas J. Kilgus, former proprietor of a Washington street cafe and real estate man, charging that for thirty years she lived with him as his wife and that he is the father of her two sons. She asks the court to award her $30,000 damages for Kilgus's alleged failure to keep his promise to marry her.

At No. 14 Kinsdale street, Dorchester, where Mr. Kilgus lives with his wife, whom he married in 1917, the charges in the suit are emphatically denied.

"I never lived in Brookline, as the woman declares," said Mr. Kilgus. "For twenty-seven years I lived with my brother, Luke, at No. 28 Clive street, Jamaica Plain. This suit is just a 'hold up.' When it gets into court—if it ever does—it will be shown to be that."

"The suit is a farce," asserted Luke Kilgus. "My brother Thomas lived with me from 1915 to 1919, when my wife died."

"He knew the woman years ago when he had no son, but any story that he lived with her as man and wife or that he had two children by her is false, I believe."

A Mrs. Kilgus declares she intends to sue her husband. She says Miss McHugh had as a "some mighty bad time about me" and had tried to make her married life uncomfortable.

Stein-Bloch suits at 1-2—or to put it another way, 2 suits for about what you've had to pay for one.

Beginning Wednesday, at 9 a. m.

A special purchase from the Stein-Bloch Company of

this Spring's suits, all of which were made to retail for $40 to $75,

$27.50

Three pieces—coat, vest, trousers

LAST January we sold 862 similar suits at this price in a single day; Wednesday—more to choose from, more of the better grades and therefore even better value than the January event.

It is hardly necessary to add that Stein-Bloch clothes are considered the finest examples of tailoring in America; that for over 60 years Stein-Bloch has never deviated from the highest standards as to all-wool fabrics, London shrinking, Belgian canvases, the matching of buttons, etc.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

To get there quickly, use Washington street entrance and take escalator to the second floor.

All sizes will be hung together for quick and easy selection. Trousers and vests separate to avoid confusion—if you like the fit of a coat the vest and trousers will be brought at once.

No charge for alterations, or for delivery; in fairness to all we will have to ask everyone to give us plenty of time. And remember the more time you give us the better your suit will fit in the end. Women may buy—we will hold the suit 24 hours for the man to get a fitting.

Gray, brown, green in light and dark shades and the shades in between; a few golf suits included.

Every size, including slacks, long, shorts, short slacks, from 34 to 46.

Suits for all types of men from the ultraconservative to the devotee of young men's models.

But it may be well to add that these suits were made to sell in the regular season, in the regular way, at regular prices.

These are the things that make this a chance to pay so little and get so much that no man can afford to miss it.

N. B.—All the best Stein-Bloch models, too, the Saxon, the Morley for young men, the Avon, etc., all at $27.50.

BRAVES GO RIGHT AFTER ANOTHER CARDINAL SCALP

STEELERS FESSING TO FANS

By NICK FLETCHER
Something or other seems to have flustered the St. Louis Cardinals when they stumbled up against the Braves this season. The sloppy head of baseball, the biggest blunder in the game, four straight out in the West was brought along to the Wigwam and played an important part in the initial Boston victory of the series, though the tribe would have won anyhow. Coach's fine pitching made that a certainty.

The hurling is quite a chunk more than half the battle, and control is the better part of the necessary art. In this home stand the Braves pitchers have displayed remarkable ability to get the apple over the plate, and as a result the boys haven't been in trouble all the time.

None were hit figured it out that there on balls but almost had the game that on the winning run in the course of a season. Putting enemies on the bases by the safe system is ruinous to a team's morale.

Mitchell Flippers Haven't Been Putting Them On
The Mitchell Flippers haven't been putting them on, and accordingly the team has romped off four straight against the two toughest clubs in the league. In four games the visitors have collected four runs, four hits, and four errors on the bases on balls, while Mitchell and Oeschger both went the whole distance without handing anything away.

That sort of thing has made the Braves look like a million dollars in the field even though the team is all scattered around with nubs in place of stars.

Word, Christenbury and Cruise Out of Position

It's a certainty that the Braves will play a lot better than they did when they showed yesterday, but the Braves will probably rise to the occasion, having displayed a pleasing propensity for doing that little thing away.

The crowds are beginning to trickle out to the Alton orchard and two more wins over the Cards will make the week-end totals approach record figures, providing the weather. There were 4,000 out Saturday, when it was a try to one that no game would be played.

Phillips, who opened the home stand the night before, was warm, and the Braves were warm, and the Braves were warm, and the Braves were warm.

Phillips is in such good shape that he will have a tough time passing him up.

Lefty Sheldahl, who was pinned in the Braves a year ago, is now a finished pitcher, now, likely to better the local, and likely to better a winning string for him in St. Louis.

Twilighters in Three Contests
Looks to me as though they are going to be big doings out at Fenway Park, Rochester, tonight, and at the Red Sox and Al Knickerbocker Club will give a fine night's gathering with a lot of fun.

St. Andrew's Catholic Club, with King Suter pitching, will invade the Rochester (model) baseball park on the top of Mt. Ida. This ball park is rather pleasantly situated with one of the loveliest in the state, and should be jammed to its capacity. The hill behind home base will look like a human mountain if all turn out who say they intend to go.

RUPERT HUGHES' GREATEST NOVEL

A man in a pilot helmet, dark goggles and a riding suit, had steered a pretty horse close to him and was complaining:

"Say, Italy, do you realize you're keeping the whole company waiting in this ghastly heat?"

"I beg your pardon, Mr. Folger. Just a moment, old man. Let me present you to Miss—Miss Woodville."

The director laughed his head and nodded curtly. As he whirled his horse to ride back to the carriage, Italy ran and, seizing his bridle, led the horse aside and talked to Folger earnestly.

"Look here, old man. That girl is a friend of mine and beautiful as a peach. She's got the skin and the eyes that photograph to beat the band. She's just lost her husband and comes out to this ball hole to be a chambermaid. It's too outrageous to think of. Give her a chance, won't you?"

When the camel had established itself on its four soft-cushioned feet it moved off with an undulating motion as sickening as an English Channel steamer.

 "It is a sweetie of yours?"
 "None of that, now! Rhin's as nice as they make 'em. But I can't stand the thought of her working on a ranch, making beds and wrestling steer jacks. Give her a test and put her in the mob scene or something. And don't tell Robina I told you, in Heaven's name!"
 Folger was puzzled. Robina Teale was a trouble maker in the town, but she made profitable trouble in the hearts of the public.

Finance Low Priced Rails Rise on News of Wage Cut With Call Money Down to 3 1/2%

FINANCE AND BUSINESS

By B. C. Forbes

Cheerfulness, happily and properly, predominates. But our optimism shouldn't become blind.

Although most—almost all—important developments in the money market have been taken from the "Morgan Committee" is encouraging political situation in getting down to brass tacks in trying to formulate terms for a huge international loan to Germany. The most far-reaching political, financial and economic questions and problems—many involved. However, the necessity for a loan is so urgent that all sides and positions may be easily adjusted.

In its present way "mange mond" the financial and business community didn't risk the passing of the Court's decree that Southern Pacific must dispose of Central Pacific. Under the Sherman law such conditions are forbidden; yet the Transportation act of 1910 specifically provides for the wholehearted sale of one hundred and more railroads into some twenty systems.

The outlook is that the "disincorporation" chapter and act is a new era of consolidation.

The opinion expressed in this column a month or more ago that the highest grades of bonds were likely to advance much further. The indications are that the stocks will gradually advance.

Coal strikes and the consequent no contributions to bullfights. The miners appear to be as determined as ever to hold out, and the coal that they are making no great effort to hasten settlement.

Here and there the flow of business is already being interfered with by shortage of fuel, and the stocks are steadily being eaten into. It is manifest that the coal strike will last much longer than was expected, and less serious interruption.

Because the invitation of the operators to President Harding to appoint an arbitrator to settle the coal strike, although even a solution by this process would take time.

While strikes of railway unions are being ignored, the possibility of trouble from this source is not overlooked in the highest circles.

It remains beyond dispute that the general trend is in the right direction, and that the developments throughout the business world justify confidence that business will continue to improve even during the Summer months, and that it will be still better in the Fall.

With call money down to 3 1/2 per cent, and the low priced rails for the most part responded in line with the news that the Railroad Board had ordered wage reductions of around $100,000 a year in the pay of railroad shop craft unions.

The statements of labor leaders that strike vote would be taken appeared to have little effect on the market, and the rails advanced.

Aim High

And THINK High Thoughts. Our Aspirations Form Our Character

Copyright, 1922, Star Company

This picture is taken from Arthur Young's excellent book of cartoons called "Allegories." It is a very old-fashioned picture and teaches an old-fashioned lesson. But fortunately some young people will like it and find inspiration in it.

There are things more important than your choice of a straw hat, the place where the belt is fastened to the back of your coat, the cut of your hair or your collar, or your collection of late slang.

The right kind of youth aims at the highest, fears nothing but failure, desires nothing but glory. The ancient Gauls rushed against the rising sea with their drawn swords. And other half-savage peoples have shot their arrows at the sun. We smile at them now in our "superiority." But the enthusiasm of their day is transformed into the ACHIEVEMENT of our own day. The child reaching out for the rainbow, or crying for the moon, expresses the part of man's character that has raised him from a poor, shivering savage in his cave to the ruler of this earth, flying in the air, traveling below the sea, conquering deserts and wild beasts.

"Hitch your wagon to a star" is old advice, and good advice. You may possibly miss the "hitch." Or, if you succeed with the "hitch," you may find the traveling rough, rapid and bumpy.

But it is better to try and fail, as millions have done and must do, than to live in dull indifference. It is better to struggle on over the rough roads in the effort to do something worth while than to take the easy, smooth path, and feel that your problem has been settled for the Spring when your straw hat has been chosen.

This youth, shooting an arrow at the starry sky, typifies all the men that have done things worth while in the history of this earth.

He represents those who have defied tyranny, or superstition, and died for their courage.

He represents the pioneers in science, in exploration.

He represents those who have died for conscience. He represents all that is really worth while, all that distinguishes men from the beasts of the field.

Aim as high as you can, think as high as you can. To try earnestly, even though you may fail partly or entirely, is better than not to try. TRYING OF ITSELF is a virtue, it proves ambition.

Condescending Foreigners

They Mean Well

Copyright, 1922, Star Company

There still exists that charming "condescension in foreigners." Sir Charles Higham, member of Parliament, a first-class advertising man, comes over and says nice things to us. We are "pleased to meet him," but we observe his statements that "American SALESMANSHIP and British STABILITY make an unbeatable combination."

Higham sees in us salesmanship, by which he means the ability to talk. But STABILITY, that noble, permanent quality, resides in England.

We certainly are tireless talkers. But occasionally we develop stability. Such Americans as Lincoln, Grant, Fulton, Wilson, Graham Bell, farmers on the lonely frontier, women working for suffrage, through to victory, and others, have been quite "stable."

New England's Busiest Industry About Now

The Voice of New England

The following is a contribution to the Harvard daily paper, The Crimson:

"For People Who Think"

Entirely apart from the issue now universally under discussion, and speaking merely as an undergraduate without considering my connection with your paper, I should like an opportunity of dispelling what illusions may have arisen in mistaken minds as a result of a new article in Saturday's "Boston American."

1. The statement declaring that Jews are discriminated against on athletic teams is like an anyone who took the trouble to scrutinize Harvard's athletic history for the past few years would readily see for himself. 2. Again, the paper declared that "I quote its own cultured words—the Harvard 'Flapper' and road house rouser"—was anxious about the scholastic superiority of the Jews. I have no personal friends and few acquaintances who could aspire to the above complimentary descriptions. But if any such exist they probably do not spend their time figuring out the scholastic percentages in the percentage of Phi Beta Kappa membership. 3. It is stated that not a week passes without one of the "forensic" actions of steel cars," etc., "figuring in some lurid scandal." Even if I obtained my statistics from the issues of the most thoughtful, clean and public-spirited members of our Boston press, I think I could successfully prove that the inventor of this "line" has slightly overreached himself.

4. Then there is the fiction—nothing else—about the meeting between five Jewish students and the representatives of the undergraduate publications. And while there were unofficial meetings between five Christians and five Jews, the former men have emphatically denied the "admission" and promises of "awakening abolitionism" attributed to them.

5. But the statement that is most outrageous and amazing in its falseness is that which describes Professor R. B. Merriman as being at the head of "a drive against the Jewish." It has having been given "carte blanche" by President Lowell for this purpose. Such a gratuitous slander against one of the most liberal-minded and courageous members of the faculty is, of course, ridiculous. Bureaucratic accusations devoid of

LOOK ON THIS PICTURE AND ON THIS

By Dr. Charles Fleischer

LOOK on this picture and then upon this, as Hamlet might put it.

If you want to see, at a glance, the difference between the Elizabethan Era, which was the golden age of English literature, and our own prosaical age, culturally considered, please read the two following characterizations of Man. Says Shakespeare: "What a piece of work is a man! how noble in reason! how infinite his faculties! in form and moving how express and admirable! in action how like an angel! in apprehension how like a God!"

Chemical Analysis And now read a chemical analysis, the product of this practical period. Scientific investigation shows that the ingredients of a man, plus water, are as follows: Fat enough for seven bars of soap. Iron enough for a medium-sized nail. Sugar enough to fill a washer. Lime enough to white-wash a chicken coop. Phosphorus enough to tip 3,500 matches. Magnesium enough for a medicine dose. Potassium enough to explode a toy cannon. Sulphur enough to rid a dog of fleas.

Finally—adds the chemical analyst, with the truly modern touch which measures value in money's worth—this whole collection of chemicals can be bottled for $5 cents, and that in a day when things are three times as high as they used to be. But even this ultra-modern is not without sentiment, nor is he any foundation on facts, sensationalism for the sake of sensationalism, and mind-reading for the mere joy of feeling the muck will sooner or later lose its force and its influence on the minds of the public—which is in the end really composed of "people who think," not of people who swallow. Finally I must congratulate the contributing "Jewish student"—one who is so anxious for his academic opportunities as to wish to have them by the throat, and who is so "scholarly standing" (?) as to hide behind the anonymity of the press! A shorter word for the above, whether or not in the domestic vocabulary, is the unsprinkling one of "cowardice." The papers have recently been profuse of these statements by Jew-barren of philosophic insight, for he sums his summary with the respectful exclamation: "How wonderful then is the brain which makes many men prodigious!"

Palmetist's Answer You will remember that the palmetist answers his own cynical query about man who is but dust, and yet Thou has crowned him with glory and honor, given him dominion over the works of Thy hands, and hast indeed made him but little less than God.

Everything it appears, depends not so much upon the point of view as upon the habit and mode of expression. No one could fairly claim, and make out his case, that the days of David, the Judean Palmetist, or of Shakespeare, the Elizabethan palmetist, thought more highly of human beings than we do in this democratic age.

Simply, we love to seem cynical and without sentiment, much as do sophomores at college and high school lasses who mean never to marry.

We assume a certain roughness of spirit and brusqueness of speech as a very protection for the deep tenderness and idealism which we cherish. Somewhat in the fashion of Mother Nature, who habitually chafes her seeds in rough husk and hard shell.

As a matter of fact, with all our crude material of outward seeming, we are today more idealistic than many men more reverent in essential religionism than over the race has been. (Copyright, 1922, by Eliza Fleischer)

If This Is Your Birthday You Are LUCKY

IF today is your birthday what success you achieve in life will be more of a spiritual than a natural triumph, for while you have many of the qualities which make for success in this world you have also a powerful mind which will lead you to sacrifice any petty transient advantage in order to achieve the distant ideal which you know to be impossible.

This is a day of unusual good fortune, materially and spiritually. A day for new ventures in business and in friendship. The ensuing year will find you active and successful beyond your fondest hopes. Famous persons born this day: Nathan Hale—The martyred patriot. Katherine A. Warfield—Poet. John Trumbull—Soldier and artist.

ARE YOU PUTTING OFF TRAINING YOUR CHILD?

There are too many parents who slide over or gloss over the mistakes and the misbehavior of their children. Thinking that children are bound to be "little pests," as one woman expressed it, and they will get over it.

But how are these children to get over being the "little pests" if the easy parent is not alert for themselves and all concerned unless the parents help them out of it?

Very often in households one parent recognizes this fact while the other does not, and, for the sake of peace, keeps still when correction should be made. This makes it not only harder for the other parent, but it creates a bad influence on the child, who thinks that it can do a lot of things when the easy parent is around and get away with it, which could not be done if both were hard in hand to stop it. It is so much easier to imagine things than to do them, and you will find it will outgrow its wrong doing.

If you walk tall a tree is grown up to be up off the tree branches, you leave a scared trunk. If you had influence on the child, who thinks that it can do a lot of things when the easy parent is around and get away with it, which could not be done if both were hard in hand to stop it. It is so much easier to imagine things than to do them, and you will find it will outgrow its wrong doing.

SEEN AND HEARD

By Lambert and Daily

We stated a few days ago that Boston had the best Transit Board in the country. Headed by COLONEL THOMAS SULLIVAN, the chairman of the board, the members start off in the morning to work, lunch together at noon, and finish the afternoon on the job. This is co-operation. The other members of the board are FRANCIS SLATTERY and LOUIS A. ROURE. They are handling more than $38,000,000 worth of city improvements.

The question as to what shall be done to improve Harvard bridge should be decided at once by both City and State officials. The planning on both the Boston and Cambridge side is in a terrible condition and only a few years ago more than $250,000 was spent to repair the Boston side alone.

JAMES A. McLANE, JR., who has just been approved by the Civil Service Commission as the 26th Division and was elected to the position of the State House, FORMER REPRESENTATIVE CHARLES F. ROWLEY, lawyer, says he is doing the town's work on his own time and expense.

There have been many applications for positions on the staff of the city, but never have so many candidates appeared as are now.

GARRET P. SERVISS ON COMPASS NEEDLE

By Garrett P. Serviss

"Just what makes the point of the needle of a compass point toward the North Pole? The needles of compasses, south of the Equator point toward the South Pole or toward the North Pole?—A. A. South Chicago."

YOUR question does credit to your intelligence. It shows that you are not thinking with your seeing and reading, but with your understanding. The most astonishingly interesting results are often obtained by the most unassuming and unassuming things. One of the chief objects of these articles is to show people who have been in the habit of thinking that the earth is a globe, and read about it, and consequently have fallen into a kind of mental paralysis with regard to everything outside their narrow line of business, to try the thought cure.

It is best to waste no time in striving to understand the causes. We can only define magnetism by its effects. The earth is a great magnet, and like every magnet, has two poles, two opposite magnetic "poles." If we ask why the earth is a magnet, the answer is, no doubt, to be found in two facts: (1) because the earth contains great quantities of iron and other magnetic substances, and (2) because it rotates.

This is a property of magnets that their like poles repel one another, while their opposite poles attract one another. The "north" pole of one magnet attracts the "south" pole of another, and vice versa. Also, the "north" pole of one magnet repels the "north" pole of another, and vice versa. It is very easy to observe these facts for yourself.

At the same time the earth's south magnetic pole, situated near the border of the Antarctic continent, will have nothing to do with the needle's south pole. The needle's south pole will be attracted to the earth's north pole, which is sympathetic to it.

If Your Forefathers Didn't Come Over on the Mayflower They Just Missed the Boat

Most large cities have firms which make it a business to trace your ancestors. The man who does these things, too, only they call them "collecting bones." Every person who has a family tree should have a firm tracing his family tree traced and others don't feel so good.

One millionaire spent a hundred thousand dollars to have his family tree traced. He was so rich he had it dug up by the roots. He wanted to find out what broken bones he was and he discovered that he was one of the broken bones.

His great-grandfather was an early settler. He was so rich he had it dug up by the roots. He wanted to find out what broken bones he was and he discovered that he was one of the broken bones.
